Taking Social Justice to doorsteps

Government schemes need to reach the most needy seamlessly and without fail as it is for them that they are planned and launched. It was observed that in Datia, the overwhelming grievance of the people was related to pension and social sector schemes. The challenges were manifold such as incorrect or incomplete database, bank related problems and field level inefficiencies.

It was decided to launch an initiative to solve this problem by relying on local cultural forces. Thus was born the Rama-Nandira Abhiyan.

The objective of the Abhiyan was to create a bond between the Administration and the public. Massive local involvement was planned and implemented where all Government departments and community village level officials were involved in collating, collecting and correcting the database.

More than 26,000 letters were generated in the name of the individual beneficiary. These letters were distributed to every person individually. Final orders were distributed through a motorcycle rally. To emphasise the power of the individual, any person had the power to stop the rally in case he thinks he is not getting the benefits at his doorstep. This challenge spurred the officials into ensuring seamless delivery of the schemes. This also helped in identifying missing beneficiary, and the Management Information System (MIS) was thus updated.

The senior District Administration ensured their own availability every week so that anyone could walk up and let them know if the scheme benefits were not reaching them.

Local media was used extensively to communicate the Abhiyan and the benefits were spelt out to all. To break the psychological diffidence of the people, a special sofa has been kept at the collector office for Rama-Nandira beneficiaries. Through this scheme, many pension schemes for old age, widow, Divyang and women were streamlined and delivered.

Datia is famous for its more than 500 temples to Goddess Shakti and the rock edicts of King Ashoka. It is a cultural centre of the region. Today it is known for the Rama-Nandira initiative to bring smiles to the doorstep.

Best Practices of BPDP and DPDP

Construction Work

Work delegation to the panchayat → T.S → A.S → Geo Tag (3) → Instalment release → CC

READYMADE EQUIPMENTS-PURCHASE WORK

Creation of GEM ID if not available → T.S of the material to be purchased → A.S → Geo Tag → Bidding in the Gem buyer portal → Payment in Instalment

 For purchasing of material not related to RD for eg Health equipment, computers, electrical equipment etc its difficult to get the technical section and as the RD is mostly experienced in earth work and concrete work, the purchase process get delays.

In Jhabua we have taken the specification of health equipment from health department and then have raised the demand from the department end to the block for support and based on this document the purchasing was carried out without the TS and doing direct AS of the equipment as no department or engineer were providing the TS of the equipment which are not mentioned in the SOR of there respective department. Also for computers in school from Block plan we have carried out in the same manner as with health equipment.

Recommendation from States on Draft Report on Project Driven BPDP and DPDP

- For the preparation of plan the soft activities like Situation Analysis, Visioning Exercise, Spatial Analysis etc. Requires in detail understanding about end to end process. On the field level, Intense capacity building around such activities require attention.
- Tracking of planned activities during the planning exercise are major concern’s of Gram Sabha’s Members.
- During the Plan process, a lot of individual demand arises, during the exercise however individual demand were not addressed by proper departmental responses.
