To make it clear, the information regarding mileage of all retreaded tyres, size wise, retreaded in one quarter i.e. a period of 3 calendar months will be collected from the consignee locations and their average mileage will be compared with the guaranteed mileage of retreaded tyres given above. Recovery for less mileage will be worked out by taking the total number of tyres of a particular size/ tyres retreaded in one quarter multiplied by the average less mileage and cost of retreading of one tyre including labour and other overheads for the guaranteed mileage. An example of this is as under:- 1. Total steel radial tyre of size 10.00R20 retreaded in 1st time in one quarter = 1500 tyres 2. Guaranteed mileage for 1st retreading = 48000 kms. 3. Average mileage covered by 1500 retreaded tyres = 46000 kms. 4. Total less mileage = (48000 – 46000) x 1500 = 30,00,000 kms. 5. Cost of retreading of one tyre including labour = ₹ 3000 (assumed rate) 6.Total recovery on account of less mileage=30,00,000/48,000x3000= ₹ 1,87,500.00 "Retreaded tyres completing its life in 8 to 10 months after retreading, the assessment of recovery on a/c of less kilometers/ mileage covered by the resoled tyres than guaranteed kilometers will be intimated to the firm for recovery accordingly, keeping in view the above time & above relevant factors." Note: If a retreaded tyre with remaining Non Skid Depth 3.5 mm or more fails due to bursting, such tyre will not be accounted for assessing recovery due to less mileage. If retreading NSD of a burst tyre is less than 3.5 mm then mileage of such tyre will be calculated for full NSD of 13.5 mm keeping in view, the mileage covered upto its failure on account of burst plus expected mileage in the same portion upto 13.5 mm.
