HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIKRAM NATH

JUDGE, SUPREME COURT OF INDIA

EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN, NALSA

Dear Readers,

It gives me immense satisfaction to present the October–December 2025 edition of NALSA's Quarterly Newsletter, which captures a period of institutional consolidation, national dialogue and renewed commitment to strengthening access to justice across the country.

This quarter marked an important phase of reflection and capacity-building for Legal Services Institutions, with a renewed focus on strengthening delivery mechanisms, embracing technology and deepening community-centric approaches to justice. The emphasis during these months was not only on expanding outreach, but also on reinforcing the quality, efficiency and responsiveness of legal aid systems.

The quarter witnessed several significant milestones. The East Zone Regional Conference held in October provided a valuable platform for regional engagement and exchange of best practices. In November, the National Conference on "Strengthening Legal Aid Delivery Mechanisms" brought together key stakeholders from across the country. The launch of the National Legal Aid Defence Counsels System (LADCS) Dashboard by Hon'ble the then Chief Justice of India, Justice B.R. Gavai, marked a major step towards data-driven governance and transparency. The launch of the Community Mediation Training Manual reinforced mediation as a people-centric dispute resolution mechanism.

In December, the National Webinar commemorating the International Day of Persons with Disabilities reaffirmed the centrality of inclusion, dignity and equal participation in justice delivery. The quarter culminated with the successful conduct of the 4th National Lok Adalat on 13th December 2025, once again demonstrating the transformative potential of amicable, swift and accessible dispute resolution.

As we move forward, our collective task remains clear: to strengthen legal aid institutions, empower vulnerable communities and ensure that justice is not only accessible, but also compassionate and inclusive. I am confident that the initiatives reflected in this edition will inspire continued dedication to our enduring constitutional ideal of justice for all, and encourage every stakeholder to contribute meaningfully to a more equitable and humane justice system.

Warm Regards,
Vikram Nath

Message from the Member Secretary, NALSA

Dear Readers,

I am pleased to present the October–December 2025 edition of NALSA’s Quarterly Newsletter, which documents a quarter of sustained engagement, institutional strengthening and people-centric legal outreach across the country. This edition reflects the collective resolve of Legal Services Institutions to continuously enhance both the reach and quality of legal aid delivery.

The quarter captures a wide spectrum of activities, demonstrating how legal empowerment is being advanced through coordinated national and regional efforts. A strong emphasis during this period was placed on improving delivery mechanisms, strengthening legal aid defence systems, promoting mediation and ensuring inclusion of vulnerable sections.

Focused regional and national-level engagements enabled a review of operational challenges, exchange of implementation experiences and streamlining of approaches to legal aid delivery. Technological interventions introduced during the quarter have strengthened data management, monitoring and functional oversight within the legal aid defence framework, while structured training resources supported the continued expansion of mediation as a community-oriented and accessible mode of dispute resolution.

Targeted outreach initiatives addressed the specific legal needs of vulnerable groups, including persons with disabilities, reinforcing inclusive service delivery. The quarter concluded with the successful conduct of the 4th National Lok Adalat, underscoring the effectiveness of amicable dispute resolution in ensuring timely and accessible justice.

I also take this opportunity to place on record my sincere appreciation for the valuable contributions of Shri Bharat Parashar, the then Learned Member Secretary, NALSA, now Secretary General, Supreme Court of India. His stewardship in the planning and conduct of national and regional conferences, along with his institutional guidance, significantly strengthened NALSA’s initiatives. The momentum and organisational clarity achieved during his tenure continue to inform and support our ongoing efforts.

I extend my sincere appreciation to the Hon’ble Executive Chairpersons and Ld. Member Secretaries of the State Legal Services Authorities, Judicial Officers, Legal Aid Defence Counsels, Panel Lawyers, Mediators, Para Legal Volunteers and administrative staff, whose dedication and tireless efforts give life to NALSA’s mission. Their work on the ground ensures that legal services remain accessible, responsive and humane, and continues to strengthen the foundation of justice for all.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON “STRENGTHENING LEGAL AID DELIVERY MECHANISMS”

The National Legal Services Authority (NALSA) organised the National Conference on “Strengthening Legal Aid Delivery Mechanisms” on 8th and 9th November 2025 at the Supreme Court of India, New Delhi, marking three decades of sustained service in furtherance of the constitutional mandate of access to justice and commemorating the observance of National Legal Services Day. The Conference, acting as a national deliberative forum, brought together the leadership of the Judiciary, representatives of Legal Services Institutions across the country, judicial officers, members of the Bar and frontline legal aid functionaries—including Para Legal Volunteers (PLVs) / Adhikar Mitr, Panel Lawyers and LADC—on a common platform to reflect on institutional progress and to chart future pathways for strengthening India’s legal aid architecture.

The Conference reaffirmed the vision enshrined in Article 39A of the Constitution of India, underscoring that justice must not remain a formal entitlement but must be realized as accessible, timely, affordable and humane in practice. Over two days, the deliberations focused on institutional strengthening, capacity building, community centric justice delivery and the financial sustainability of Legal Services Institutions, while foregrounding the human dimension of legal aid as a transformative instrument of social justice. The discussions emphasized the need for responsive institutions capable of adapting to emerging social realities and the evolving needs of vulnerable populations, with particular attention to strengthening last-mile delivery mechanisms across diverse regional and social contexts.

The National Conference on “Strengthening Legal Aid Delivery Mechanisms” was inaugurated on 8th November 2025 at the Supreme Court of India by Shri Narendra Modi, Hon’ble Prime Minister of India, in the august presence of Hon’ble Mr. Justice Bhushan Ramkrishna Gavai, the then Chief Justice of India and Patron-in-Chief, NALSA; Hon’ble Mr. Justice Surya Kant, the then Executive Chairman, NALSA (Currently the Hon’ble Chief Justice of India); Hon’ble Mr. Justice Vikram Nath, the then Chairman, Supreme Court Legal Services Committee; and Shri Arjun Ram Meghwal, Hon’ble Minister of State (IC) for Law and Justice, Government of India, along with other Hon’ble Judges of the Supreme Court and High Courts, senior officers of the Government of India and representatives of Legal Services Institutions from across the country.

The Conference also saw the National Photography and Art Showcase as a distinctive segment, presenting a compelling visual narrative of legal empowerment at the grassroots. The showcase was inaugurated by Hon’ble Mr. Justice B. R. Gavai. Through curated photographs and artworks received from across States and Districts, the exhibition depicted the outreach efforts of legal services institutions, the role of PLVs and legal aid functionaries and the tangible human impact of access to justice initiatives. By translating field-level legal aid work into powerful visual stories, the showcase reinforced the Conference’s objective of recognizing community-centric engagement and bringing to the fore the lived realities underlying institutional legal services delivery.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON “STRENGTHENING LEGAL AID DELIVERY MECHANISMS”

The Welcome Address by the then Hon'ble Executive Chairman, NALSA, emphasised that legal aid represents the point at which constitutional ideals translate into lived reality for millions of citizens. Highlighting that the true measure of a justice system lies in its ability to reach the last person standing at the margins, the address reflected upon NALSA's evolution over three decades into a nationwide institutional network committed to inclusivity, dignity and pragmatic justice.

In his address, the Hon'ble Prime Minister of India reiterated that justice becomes the foundation of social justice only when it is accessible to all, timely in its delivery and understandable to the common citizen. Emphasising the role of Legal Services Authorities as a vital bridge between the judiciary and the people, he underscored the importance of ease of justice as an integral component of ease of living and ease of doing business. On this occasion, the Hon'ble Prime Minister also launched NALSA's Community Mediation Training Module, describing it as a contemporary articulation of India's civilisational tradition of dispute resolution through dialogue and consensus.

Addressing the gathering, the then Hon'ble Chief Justice of India reflected on the deeper purpose of the legal aid movement, observing that its true success lies not merely in statistics or reports, but in the trust and quiet gratitude of citizens who feel seen, heard and supported by the justice system. Drawing upon personal experiences from the field, His Lordship emphasised empathy, humility and human connection as the cornerstones of effective legal aid delivery.

The inaugural session concluded with the launch and screening of a short film chronicling NALSA's three-decade journey, setting a reflective and action-oriented tone for the Conference deliberations. The film highlighted key milestones, institutional evolution and the enduring commitment of Legal Services Authorities to advancing access to justice for the marginalized, thereby reinforcing the Conference's overarching vision of inclusive and responsive justice delivery.

Thematic Working Sessions

The Conference deliberations were structured around five carefully curated thematic working sessions, each addressing a core pillar of India's legal aid delivery architecture. These sessions combined institutional review with forward looking dialogue, facilitating the exchange of best practices and the formulation of actionable strategies for strengthening Legal Services Institutions nationwide.

Working Session I

Institutional Defence for Inclusive Justice – The Legal Aid Defence Counsel System (LADCS) Approach

The First Working Session, held on 8th November 2025, focused on strengthening the Legal Aid Defence Counsel System (LADCS) as a cornerstone of inclusive criminal justice. The session was chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice J.K. Maheshwari, Judge, Supreme Court of India, and co chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Manindra Mohan Shrivastava, Chief Justice, High Court of Madras and Hon'ble Mr. Justice Nitin Jamdar, Chief Justice, High Court of Kerala.

Presentations were made by Hon'ble Mr. Justice V. Kameswar Rao, Executive Chairperson, Delhi State Legal Services Authority and Hon'ble Smt. Justice Anu Sivaraman, Executive Chairperson, Karnataka State Legal Services Authority. The deliberations underscored institutional representation as a constitutional safeguard, highlighting the need for quality representation, professional continuity, accountability mechanisms and uniform standards to ensure fair trial rights for undertrial prisoners and indigent accused across jurisdictions.

Left to Right : Hon'ble Mr. Justice V. Kameswar Rao, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Manindra Mohan Shrivastava, Hon'ble Mr. Justice J.K. Maheshwari, Hon'ble Mr. Justice Nitin Jamdar & Hon'ble Smt. Justice Anu Sivaraman.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice J.K. Maheshwari underscored that the critical question before the system today is not whether LADCS is conceptually sound, but how effectively it can be implemented. He identified key challenges in this regard, including recruitment and training of defense counsel, which must transition from routine procedural exercises to purposeful capacity-building.

The LADCS, he stated, is not a temporary initiative but a structural reform aimed at advancing a more compassionate and credible justice system. He stressed that inclusive justice must not remain an aspiration, but must be realized in practice, ensuring that the last, the lost and the least have meaningful access to legal representation and justice.

Panel Lawyers at the Forefront – Strengthening Legal Aid for Inclusive Justice

The Second Working Session examined the role of panel lawyers as the professional backbone of the legal aid system and the primary interface between Legal Services Institutions and legal aid seekers. The session was chaired by Hon'ble Mrs. Justice B.V. Nagarathna, Judge, Supreme Court of India and co chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sheel Nagu, Chief Justice, High Court of Punjab & Haryana and Hon'ble Mrs. Justice Sunita Agarwal, Chief Justice, High Court of Gujarat.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice M.S. Sonak, Executive Chairperson, Goa State Legal Services Authority, and Hon'ble Mr. Justice P. Sam Koshy, Executive Chairperson, Telangana State Legal Services Authority, addressed the session as speakers. Discussions centred on capacity building, ethical engagement, performance evaluation and sustained professional motivation, reinforcing the importance of panel lawyers as long term institutional partners in justice delivery.

Hon'ble Mrs. Justice B.V. Nagarathna, opened the session by underlining her personal connection with the subject, having herself served as a Panel Lawyer for the Karnataka State Legal Services Authority and the High Court Legal Services Committee from 1998 to 2008.

Justice Nagarathna identified major causes such as uneven empanelment, lack of diversity, inadequate training and discouraging honorarium structures. Stressing that “legal aid to the poor does not mean poor legal aid”, she highlighted the urgent need to build citizen’s confidence in legal aid services, which currently remains low despite statutory entitlements. Justice Nagarathna suggested that a structured feedback form be provided to every litigant availing legal aid to evaluate the performance of the representing advocate, with its format to be determined by the Executive Chairperson of the respective State Legal Services Authority.

Justice Nagarathna further emphasized that meaningful reform in legal aid delivery requires a shift from a purely administrative approach to a culture of professional pride and accountability. She observed that transparent empanelment criteria, periodic performance review and fair remuneration are critical to attracting committed and competent lawyers to the legal aid system. She also underscored the importance of mentoring young panel lawyers and promoting gender and social diversity within legal aid panels. Such measures, she noted, would strengthen institutional credibility and restore public trust in the promise of equal justice.

Empowering Para Legal Volunteers (PLVs) – Building Competence and Community Reach

The Third Working Session foregrounded the pivotal role of Para Legal Volunteers as community based facilitators and first responders in the legal aid ecosystem. The session was chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice M.M. Sundresh, Judge, Supreme Court of India and co chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Harish Tandon, Chief Justice, High Court of Orissa and Hon'ble Mr. Justice M.S. Ramachandra Rao, Chief Justice, High Court of Tripura.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Manoj Kumar Gupta, Executive Chairperson, Uttar Pradesh State Legal Services Authority and Hon'ble Mr. Justice A. Muhamed Mustaque, Executive Chairperson, Kerala & Lakshadweep State Legal Services Authorities, addressed the session as speakers. The deliberations recognised PLVs as the human bridge between institutions and communities, emphasising the significance of structured training, cultural sensitivity, institutional support and recognition to enhance their effectiveness and morale.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice M.M. Sundresh noted that the ambit of PLVs has commendably expanded from being limited to teachers to now encompassing students, senior citizens, Anganwadi workers, health workers, ex-servicemen and other individuals from diverse walks of life. Calling for the creation of a robust and continuously reviewed system, his Lordship emphasized that strengthening and refining the existing institutional framework is essential for improving the functioning of the State machinery.

Building on this observation, Hon'ble Mr. Justice M.M. Sundresh underscored that the effectiveness of Para Legal Volunteers (PLVs) depends not merely on their numerical expansion but on the quality of their engagement and institutional support. His Lordship highlighted the need for structured training modules, clear role demarcation, and continuous handholding to ensure PLVs are equipped to address complex, ground-level legal and social issues. He emphasized that regular evaluation and refresher programmes would enable PLVs to remain responsive to evolving legal frameworks and community needs. Strengthening coordination between PLVs and district-level legal services institutions was also identified as critical for timely intervention and meaningful outreach. Such systemic reinforcement, he noted, would enhance the credibility and impact of PLVs as the first point of contact for justice delivery at the grassroots.

Concluding his remarks, his Lordship observed that a well-supported PLV framework serves as a vital bridge between communities and formal legal institutions. He reiterated that empowering PLVs through institutional trust, capacity-building, and accountability would significantly strengthen last-mile access to justice. This approach, he noted, is integral to ensuring that legal services translate into tangible relief for those most in need.

The discussion concluded with a shared recognition that a strengthened PLV ecosystem is indispensable to responsive and people-centric justice delivery. Participants agreed that sustained institutional support would enable PLVs to continue serving as effective catalysts for legal awareness and access to justice at the grassroots.

Strengthening Permanent Lok Adalats (PLAs) – Reach, Regularity and Responsiveness

The Fourth Working Session, conducted on 9th November 2025, examined Permanent Lok Adalats (PLAs) as accessible and people centric forums for pre-litigation dispute resolution, particularly in matters relating to public utility services. The session was chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Pamidighantam Sri Narasimha, Judge, Supreme Court of India and co-chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Gurmeet Singh Sandhawalia, Chief Justice, High Court of Himachal Pradesh, and Hon'ble Mr. Justice Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, Chief Justice, High Court of Delhi.

Hon'ble Mrs. Justice Lisa Gill, Executive Chairperson, Haryana State Legal Services Authority and Hon'ble Mr. Justice Alpesh Y. Kogje, Executive Chairperson, Gujarat State Legal Services Authority, shared experiences and best practices. The deliberations highlighted the importance of regular sittings, improved infrastructure, procedural consistency and enhanced public awareness to expand the reach and responsiveness of the Permanent Lok Adalat framework.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice P. S. Narasimha contrasted PLAs with arbitration and mediation, noting that while arbitration often lacks structured institutional support and mediation remains underdeveloped in terms of organized infrastructure, PLAs benefit from the advantage of statutory incorporation. This institutionalization, his Lordship emphasized, enables systematic monitoring and accountability, thereby distinguishing PLAs from ad hoc dispute resolution mechanisms.

His Lordship cautioned against perceiving PLAs merely as alternatives to formal courts or as tools for reducing High Court dockets. Instead, his Lordship urged participants to recognize PLAs as independent institutions capable of delivering transformative justice.

Justice P. S. Narasimha further emphasized that the true strength of Permanent Lok Adalats lies in their capacity to deliver justice that is both accessible and responsive to everyday disputes affecting ordinary citizens. He observed that PLAs are uniquely positioned to address pre-litigation disputes in public utility services through a participatory, conciliatory, and rights-oriented process. He underscored that procedural flexibility, when coupled with statutory safeguards, allows PLAs to balance efficiency with fairness. Such an approach, his Lordship noted, enables PLAs to evolve as credible forums that reinforce trust in decentralized and people-centric justice delivery.

His Lordship also underscored that strengthening PLAs requires sustained institutional investment, including specialised training of presiding officers and support staff. He observed that consistent jurisprudential clarity and well-reasoned awards would enhance the authority and legitimacy of PLAs. Emphasising on uniform practices across jurisdictions, he noted that such consolidation would enable PLAs to function as dependable forums for early, effective and people-oriented dispute resolution.

Financial Management and Budgetary Allocation in Legal Services Institutions

The Fifth Working Session focused on financial governance as a critical enabler of sustainable and accountable legal aid delivery. The session was chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Surya Kant, Judge, Supreme Court of India and the then Executive Chairman, NALSA; and co-chaired by Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sanjeev Sachdeva, Chief Justice, High Court of Madhya Pradesh, and Hon'ble Mr. Justice Arun Palli, Chief Justice, High Court of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ashutosh Kumar, Chief Justice, Gauhati High Court and Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ashwani Kumar Mishra, Executive Chairperson, Punjab State Legal Services Authority, addressed the session. The discussions underscored transparency, prudent fund utilisation, timely financial reporting and capacity building in budgeting and accounts management as essentials to ensure institutional sustainability and public trust in the legal aid system.

Justice Surya Kant highlighted three core areas of concern for deliberation - Grants-in-Aid Assessment & Allocation, Compliance with the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 and Regulatory adherence.

Justice Surya Kant elaborated on the bifurcation of funds, noting that 50% of the total budget is earmarked for Legal Aid and Advice, 25% for Awareness and Outreach and 25% for Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) and Mediation. He emphasized that effective financial planning must align with statutory obligations under the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, ensuring every rupee serves the purpose of enhancing access to justice. His Lordship concluded that public funds are a public trust, and fiscal discipline is essential for sustaining confidence in the legal aid movement.

The session also deliberated on the need to institutionalise best practices in financial governance across Legal Services Authorities, with emphasis on uniform accounting standards and data-driven decision-making. Hon'ble Mr. Justice Surya Kant underscored that financial governance is not merely an administrative function but a foundational pillar of institutional credibility and long-term impact. The Hon'ble Judges on the panel also highlighted that streamlined procedures, regular audits and capacity-building of administrative staff would ensure efficient utilisation of resources. Such a structured and transparent approach, it was observed, would further strengthen public confidence and reinforce the integrity of the legal aid delivery system.

The discussion concluded with a shared understanding that sound financial governance is indispensable to the credibility and continuity of legal aid institutions. Collectively, the session underscored that responsible stewardship of public funds is integral to strengthening access to justice and sustaining public confidence in the legal services framework.

In his inaugural address, Justice Surya Kant underscored that justice must effectively reach communities across the diverse terrains of Eastern and North-Eastern India, including tea garden areas, border regions and tribal habitations. He highlighted persistent vulnerabilities such as child marriage, substance abuse, displacement of tribal populations and mental health challenges and reaffirmed NALSA's commitment to translating legal provisions into tangible, everyday justice through focused flagship initiatives and strengthened regional collaboration.

The technical deliberations were spread across five thematic sessions over two days. The first day focused on child marriage and child rights, narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and tribal rights with reference to the NALSA (SAMVAD Strengthening Access to Justice for Marginalized, Vulnerable Adivasis and Denotified/Nomadic Tribes) Scheme, 2025, while the second day addressed issues concerning tea garden populations and mental health and legal aid. These sessions enabled concise yet substantive exchanges on regional challenges, best practices and effective State-level interventions.

NATIONAL WEBINAR IN OBSERVANCE OF INT'L DAY OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES – 3RD DECEMBER

The National Legal Services Authority (NALSA) organised a National Webinar on 3rd December 2025 to commemorate the International Day of Persons with Disabilities, aligning with the United Nations' 2025 theme, "Fostering Disability-Inclusive Societies for Advancing Social Progress." The programme reaffirmed NALSA's constitutional mandate under Article 39A to ensure equal access to justice through accessibility, dignity and non-discrimination.

The Webinar commenced with the Welcome Address by Shri Sanjiv Pandey, Member Secretary, NALSA, who set the context for a focused discussion on disability-inclusive legal aid. Delivering the Keynote Address, Justice Vikram Nath, Judge, Supreme Court of India and Executive Chairman, NALSA, underscored that disability inclusion is a matter of justice and equal personhood, not charity. Emphasising that the removal of barriers unlocks human potential, His Lordship called for systemic efforts to create enabling environments where persons with disabilities can participate fully and meaningfully.

Drawing inspiration from Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam's interaction with children with disabilities, Justice Nath highlighted the power of dignity, optimism and resilience in shaping inclusive societies. His Lordship further advocated mandatory disability sensitisation for judges, panel lawyers, police personnel and court staff, ideally co-designed with organisations of persons with disabilities.

Two technical sessions followed, focusing on implementation of the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016, NALSA (Legal Services to Persons with Mental Illness and Persons with Intellectual Disabilities) Scheme, 2024, accessibility in legal processes and facilitation of welfare schemes such as UDID, ADIP and DDRS. Hon'ble Mr. Justice Surya Kant observed that irrespective of the circumstances she faces, every woman is entitled to the confidence that the justice system stands firmly with her, assuring dignity, protection and meaningful access to her rights. He also commended Uttar Pradesh SLSA for the launch of the AI-enabled legal aid chatbot "Nyaya Marg", noting that technology-driven initiatives of this nature can significantly enhance access to legal information and bridge the gap between beneficiaries and their rights.

Hon'ble Mr. Justice Vikram Nath, while quoting Dr. B. R. Ambedkar that "I measure the progress of a community by the progress its women have made", emphasized that the position of women reflects the true advancement of society. He also commended initiatives such as "Sankalp" which promote sensitivity towards issues relating to reproductive autonomy.

The deliberations underscored the need for time-bound medical assistance, sensitive legal support, psychological support in unintended motherhood and coordinated institutional response for women facing reproductive rights violations, particularly survivors of sexual violence. Experts from The National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS), the National Health Mission (NHM), Association of Advocacy and Legal Initiatives (AALI) and Mission Vatsalya discussed the medico-legal dimensions of the Medical Termination of Pregnancy (MTP) Act, 1971, psychological support systems and the role of legal aid in ensuring informed reproductive choices.

INTERNS AT NALSA

The NALSA Internship Programme during this quarter continued to serve as a vital academic-practical interface for law students from across the country, offering them an opportunity to engage closely with the institutional framework. Designed to complement classroom learning, the programme familiarised interns with the constitutional vision underpinning legal services and the mechanisms through which NALSA operationalises that vision nationwide. Throughout the quarter, interns were actively involved in research and observational learning across diverse thematic areas. Field visits to Legal Service Clinics, prisons, Lok Adalats and Legal Services Institutions enabled interns to witness how legal aid functions at the grassroots level, addressing the legal needs of marginalized communities, undertrial prisoners, women, children and other vulnerable sections. Meaningful interactions with judicial officers, and frontline legal aid functionaries allowed interns to understand the practical challenges of justice delivery and the importance of sensitivity, ethical responsibility and procedural fairness. These engagements helped bridge the gap between theoretical legal education and lived legal realities, reinforcing the role of legal aid as a service-oriented and rights-based intervention. The internship also featured structured orientation and interactive sessions. Interns gained insight into evolving approaches such as community mediation technology-driven legal services, enhancing their understanding of how innovation strengthens accessibility and efficiency within the justice system. Beyond skill-building, the programme sought to instil a sense of social responsibility and public service among participants. By observing the human impact of legal aid interventions, interns developed a deeper appreciation of law as a tool for empowerment rather than mere adjudication. Their experience underscored that justice is not confined to courtrooms but is realised through sustained outreach, awareness and compassionate engagement.
