Dear

The Consumer Protection Act, 1986 provides for a three tier quasi-judicial machinery, popularly known as Consumer Courts, at the District, State & Central levels to provide inexpensive, simple & speedy redressal to consumer disputes. The Consumer Courts include judicial as well as non-judicial members. For effective and efficient discharge of their roles & responsibilities, the non-judicial members should be well conversant with all the aspects of consumer law. It has, however, been observed that the members without law background are not equipped adequately and a need has been felt for their capacity building.

2. The National Law School of India University (NLSIU), Bengaluru launched a course in the year 2011 titled "Post Graduate Diploma in Consumer Law and Practice" (PGDLCP). This is a one year course through distance mode and is aimed at sensitizing people about consumer rights. The diploma is specially designed to meet the needs of those whose education has been in fields other than law and who would like to supplement their education with in-depth knowledge of consumer law.

3. With a view to improving the functioning of the Consumer Courts, especially the District Fora, it has been decided by this Department that, to begin with, all the non-judicial members of the District Fora would be encouraged to complete the above mentioned distance learning course. The cost for undergoing the course would be met by the Ministry and paid directly to NLSIU. Those who successfully qualify could then be given an additional incentive remuneration of Rs. 2000/- per month by the State/UT Govts.

4. I would request you to consider participation of your State/UT in this endeavour and the non-judicial members in the District Consumer Fora in your State/UT be encouraged to undergo the one year PGDCLP through distance mode being conducted by NLSIU.

Yours sincerely,
Sd/-
