Organised by

State Disaster Management Authority and District Disaster

National Disaster Management Authority,
Government of India

On 21st December, 2017

State Level Mock Exercise on Earthquake Disaster in Haryana State

About 54.2% of total landmass is falls within earthquake zone IV which is High Damage Risk Zone (MSK VIII). Increasing rate of urbanization and industrialisation also enhances its vulnerability towards earthquake disaster. Although, in recent past, no major earthquakes have occurred in Haryana, yet tremors have been felt whenever there is an earthquake in the Himalayan foot-hills. The feet remains that the region is not free from potential affecting the region are:-

1. The hidden Moradabad fault
2. The Sohna fault
3. Junction of Aravali and Alluvium near Delhi
4. Mathura fault
5. Delhi Haridwar fault

The vulnerability of the State towards earthquake requires building its capacities for making it disaster resilient. Capacity development is a theme in all the thematic areas for action for disaster management. In the Sendai Framework, 2015, Priority-2 (Strengthening DRR governance to manage DR) and Priority-3 (Investing in DRR for resilience) are central to capacity development. The capacity development includes training programs, curriculum development, large-scale awareness creation efforts, and carrying out regular mock drills and disaster response exercises. Disaster drills are critical to be prepared for handling disasters. Drills also provide an opportunity to test SOP in the field and ascertain readiness of machinery and equipment.

For the first time in history, Government of Haryana is planning to conduct a Mega Mock Exercise relating to Earthquake in coordination with National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA), Government on India, New Delhi on 21st December 2017 in which all the districts will take part. The main objectives of this initiative are:

- To understand the impact of the earthquake on the functioning and responsibilities of various stakeholders.
- To facilitate participating stakeholders in their preparation of action plans on the basis of realistic understanding of the consequences of the earthquake.
- To facilitate participating stakeholders in their evaluation of effectiveness of actions plans of various agencies and identification of their gaps.
- To facilitate evaluation of intra-agency coordination capability and identification of their gaps.
- To facilitate systemic preparedness for such events
