DIPLOMA IN INDIAN SIGN LANGUAGE INTERPRETATION (DISLI)

1. INTRODUCTION

Indian Sign Language (ISL) is the primary and natural language of the Deaf community in India. It has its own grammar, syntax, and structure, and is a rich and expressive medium of communication.

The Diploma in Indian Sign Language Interpretation (DISLI) aims to train professional interpreters who can accurately and sensitively facilitate communication between Deaf and hearing individuals in various real-life situations.

This program equips learners with a deep understanding of ISL, its structure, and its professional application in fields like education, healthcare, legal systems, media, and public services.

The course is recognized by the Rehabilitation Council of India (RCI) and is conducted in accordance with national standards and guidelines.

OBJECTIVE: - To train students in Indian Sign Language (ISL) to enable communication support for Deaf and Hard of Hearing individuals.

To explore Deaf culture, community, and the social structure surrounding sign language.

To build a professional understanding of ISL principles, structure, and interpretation in real-Life settings.
