11. Report on the Legal Awareness Campaign Organized by Mizoram State Legal Services Authority at YMA Hall, Vathuampui, Lawngtlai District on 28th March 2025

On 28th March 2025, the Mizoram State Legal Services Authority (MSLSA) conducted a highly impactful legal awareness campaign at the YMA Hall in Vathuampui, Lawngtlai District to spread awareness about the various legal schemes and services available to the public, particularly in the context of marginalized communities. The event was graced by around 400 students from the Pang community across the district. It was an enriching session that engaged the audience in understanding the available legal support systems and their rights under the law. The campaign is part of MSLSA's broader initiative to ensure that legal services are accessible to all, particularly the underprivileged, and to promote legal literacy across the state.

The program was chaired by Vanlaltanpuia, Vice President of the General Headquarters of Pangzirlai Pawl. He initiated the event by delivering a warm welcoming speech, emphasizing the importance of legal literacy in everyday life. In his speech, Vanlaltanpuia highlighted the role of legal services institutions in providing free legal aid and assistance to the needy, especially in rural areas. He encouraged the attendees, particularly the students, to take advantage of these services and become aware of their rights.

Mr. C Lalremsanga, MJS , the resource person for the event captivated the audience with his in-depth knowledge of various legal schemes and services provided by legal institutions, including the National Legal Services Authority (NALSA) and the Mizoram State Legal Services Authority (MSLSA). He elaborated on various legal aid schemes, such as: Free Legal Aid ,Lok Adalats and Legal Literacy Camps .

He also provided an insightful explanation on IT Act and POCSO Act, this session was particularly relevant given the increasing reliance on digital platforms and the need to protect vulnerable groups such as children from online exploitation. He further discussed the importance of reporting cybercrimes and child sexual abuse cases, and the role of legal institutions in ensuring justice for the victims.

The program was marked by active participation from the students in the form of questions and discussions. After the speech, an interactive session was held where students asked questions regarding the various legal schemes, the procedures for availing free legal services, and how the laws like the IT Act and POCSO Act can be utilized to ensure justice. Several students expressed their concerns about cybercrimes and asked for clarification on how to deal with such situations. Mr. Lalremsanga responded to these queries with practical examples and solutions. His approach helped demystify the legal processes involved in reporting cybercrimes and accessing legal aid. In addition, some students shared personal experiences about witnessing or hearing about cases of child abuse, leading to further discussions on the role of the community and authorities in safeguarding children. This dialogue was an essential part of the program, as it empowered students to speak up about issues they might otherwise feel uncomfortable discussing.

The event concluded with closing remarks from the chairperson, Vanlaltanpuia, who reiterated the significance of legal awareness in fostering a just and equitable society. He encouraged the students to take the knowledge gained from the program and share it with their families and communities.

The program ended with a vote of thanks by the General Secretary, Hmingthanpuia, who expressed gratitude to the resource person, the MSLSA, and all the attendees for making the event a success. The Legal Awareness Campaign at YMA Hall, Vathuampui, proved to be a highly informative and engaging session that addressed pressing legal issues affecting the community. The event successfully raised awareness about the various legal schemes available through legal services institutions and highlighted the importance of understanding critical laws like the IT Act and the POCSO Act.

5. Outreach Programme:

On the night of 27th March 2025, DLSA Lawngtlai organized an outreach legal awareness campaign at YLA Hall in Hmawngbu village. The campaign, led by Mr. C. Lalremsanga, JMFC, with four DLSA staff members, aimed to raise awareness about various legal services, rights, and the role of the Legal Services Authority in ensuring equal access to justice.

The event, chaired by Mr. Lalmangaihzauva a local youth leader, attracted around 150 community members from Hmawngbu and surrounding areas.

Mr. C. Lalremsanga, the resource person for the campaign, delivered an informative session on various schemes under NALSA. He discussed the availability of free legal representation for individuals who cannot afford to hire lawyers, role of alternative dispute resolution mechanisms in speeding up cases and reducing the burden on regular courts, programs aimed at educating individuals about their rights, including women's rights, children's rights, and the rights of marginalized communities and financial assistance and support for victims of crime, particularly victims of sexual violence, trafficking, and domestic abuse.

He also dedicated a segment to explaining the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act. He provided an overview of the legal framework for protecting children from sexual abuse and exploitation. He emphasized the importance of reporting incidents of child abuse and the support systems available to victims and their families, including access to legal aid, police support, and counseling.

The second half of the session was dedicated to an interactive Q&A segment, allowing community members to raise concerns and seek clarifications on various legal issues. Several important issues were discussed, including family disputes, inheritance laws, and access to legal services in rural areas. One key question raised by the VCP was particularly noteworthy. He raised a concern regarding the legal treatment of refugees in the village. He mentioned that Hmawngbu village was home to over 200 refugees, and he was unsure whether they could receive equal treatment under the law compared to the local villagers. The VCP asked if legal services and rights, such as access to government schemes, would be available to refugees, given their unique status. Mr. Lalremsanga responded with a detailed explanation, assuring the VCP that the law provides equal protection to all individuals residing within Indian Territory, irrespective of their refugee or local status. He clarified that refugees, if living lawfully in the village, are entitled to access legal services, protection under various laws, and welfare schemes provided by the government. He also informed the VCP that the Village Council had a key role in ensuring that the refugees were integrated into the legal framework, so they too could benefit from the rights and protections afforded by Indian law.

The programme featured a distinguished panel of experts who provided valuable insights into various aspects of the laws concerning women and children. The panel included Mr.C.Lalremsanga, MJS ,ST Ramchmachhuanmawia ,Chairman, CWC Lawngtlai and Ms F. Laengvari , District Mission Coordinator,DHEW, DPO(WCD) Lawngtlai).

The panelists discussed the legal protections available to women, including the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005, and the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition, and Redressal) Act, 2013. They also addressed the importance of legal awareness for women to protect themselves from violence and exploitation. Special attention was given to child protection laws, particularly the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, and the POCSO Act. The panelists emphasized the significance of these laws in safeguarding children from abuse, exploitation, and trafficking. The role of local authorities, such as the Child Welfare Committee (CWC), in ensuring child welfare was also highlighted. The programme also emphasized the availability of legal aid services and support mechanisms for women and children. Panel members discussed how individuals can access free legal aid and the support provided by local NGOs and government bodies.

The live telecast programme was highly successful in raising awareness about women and child-related laws. By featuring local experts and government representatives, the programme provided a comprehensive overview of the legal landscape and how the community can access protection and justice.

The interactive nature of the telecast allowed viewers to send in their questions, which were addressed by the panelists. This enhanced the accessibility of the programme and made it more engaging for the audience. The telecast reached a wide demographic, particularly those in remote areas who might not have regular access to legal education and resources.

7. Helpline No

The recent actions by the Mizoram State Legal Services Authority (MSLSA) have highlighted the significant role of legal support in ensuring justice for citizens. The launch of helpline number has already proven essential in assisting people with legal concerns in Lawngtlai District.

In one instance, a woman reached out to the helpline on 03/04/2025 after hearing about the service from a poster at the Lawngtlai Police Station. She reported that her husband had been detained by the police despite having committed no wrongdoing. The District Legal Services Authority (DLSA), led by LAC Mrs. Zirthantluangi, quickly responded to the situation by visiting the police station. Upon investigation, it was found that the husband had been arrested in connection with a seizure of arms, although no weapons were found in his possession.
