RAJ BHAVAN MAHARASHTRA

“....amongst the most charming spots, however, is the bold promontory, known as Malabar Point, and crowned with a mansion, originally the residence of Sir John Malcolm, now set apart for the accommodation of the Governor, when the heat becomes oppressive at Parell. This agreeable resort pitched upon the tall and rocky headland, like an airy above the waves commands a varied and extensive view, lovely at all times, but more particularly so when the sun’s broad golden disc is half obscured below the azure waters, and the feathery tips of the conconut woods retain their amber tinted hues..”

— Marianne Postans,
British Travel Writer, Western India in 1838
