

Chapter XVIII

PUBLIC LIFE AND VOLUNTARY SOCIAL SERVICE ORGANISATIONS

INTRODUCTION

The term public life is comprehensive in so far as it includes all political and social activities concerned with the life of the community at large. The political aspect of public life in the Gurgaon district is reflected by the activity of organised political parties and the representation of the district in the legislative bodies (both State and Central). Various voluntary bodies are responsible for organising activity in the social and cultural spheres.

REPRESENTATION OF THE DISTRICT IN THE STATE AND UNION LEGISLATURES

The Gurgaon district has so far witnessed six general elections to the Lok Sabha and five to the Vidhan Sabha¹ besides a Mid-term Election (held in May 1968) to the Vidhan Sabha.

LOK SABHA (HOUSE OF THE PEOPLE)

For the First General Elections held in 1952, 5,01,593 persons were eligible for franchise in the Gurgaon district. There was only one single-member constituency of Gurgaon for Lok Sabha which returned a Congress candidate. The number of contestants for this single seat and the number and percentage of valid votes polled by each party are exhibited below:

Party/Independents	Contes- tants	Seat won	Valid votes polled	Percent- age
Indian National Congress	1	1	1,13,269	44.96
Zamindara Party	1	—	32,518	12.91
Independents	4	—	1,06,159	42.13
Total:	6	1	2,51,946	100

1. The Sixth General Elections to Haryana Vidhan Sabha were held in June 1977.

For the Second General Elections of 1957, the number of persons eligible for franchise in the district rose to 5,63,286 as against 5,01,593 in 1952. This time also the one single-member parliamentary constituency of Gurgaon returned the Congress candidate. The number of contestants for this seat and the number and percentage of valid votes polled by each party are shown below :

Party	Contes- tants	Seat won	Valid votes polled	Percent- age
Indian National Congress	1	1	1,91,221	66.68
Bharatiya Jan Sangh	1	—	95,553	33.32
Total :	2	1	2,86,774	100

For the Third General Elections of 1962, the number of persons eligible for franchise in the district rose to 6,48,958 as against 5,63,286 in 1957 and 5,01,593 in 1952. As in the previous elections, there was only one parliamentary constituency of Gurgaon which again returned the Congress candidate. The following were the number of contestants for the seat and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party :—

Party/Independents	Contes- tants	Seats won	Valid votes polled	Percent- age
Indian National Congress	1	1	1,12,342	37.15
Bharatiya Jan Sangh	1	—	39,305	13.00
Republican Party	1	—	21,446	7.09
Independents	3	—	1,29,310	42.76
Total :	6	1	3,02,403	100

For the Fourth General Elections of 1967, the number of persons eligible for franchise in the district rose to 7,47,519 as against 6,48,958 in 1962, 5,63,286 in 1957 and 5,01,593 in 1952. This time the single parliamentary constituency of Gurgaon unlike the previous elections, returned an independent candidate. The following were the number of contestants for this seat and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party :—

Party/Independents	Contes- tants	Seat won	Valid votes polled	Percent- age
Indian National Congress	1	—	87,018	24.91
Bharatiya Jan Sangh	1	—	70,166	20.08
Republican Party	1	—	41,213	11.08
Communist Party of India	1	—	12,276	3.51
Communist Party of India (M)	1	—	16,580	4.74
Independents	4	1	1,22,141	34.96
Total :	9	1	3,49,394	100

Lok Sabha was dissolved and Fifth General Elections were held in March 1971, about a year ahead of the normal schedule. For the first time elections were held only for the parliamentary seat. For this election, the number of persons eligible for franchise in the district rose to 8,23,295 as against 7,47,519 in 1967, 6,48,958 in 1962, 5,63,286 in 1957 and 5,01,593 in 1952. There was, as before, only one parliamentary constituency of Gurgaon. This seat, which had been lost by the Congress to an independent candidate, was re-captured by the Congress candidate. The number of contestants for this seat and the number and percentage of valid votes polled by each party are given below :

Party/Independents	Contestants	Seat won	Valid votes polled	Percent- age
Congress (Presided over by Jagjivan Ram)	1	1	1,99,333	51.48
Vishal Haryana Party	1	—	22,979	5.93
Republican Party(K)	1	—	6,781	1.75
Independents	9	—	1,58,113	40.84
Total :	12	1	3,87,206	100

The Sixth General Elections to Lok Sabha were held in March 1977. The number of persons eligible for franchise in the district was 8,01,529 (the number of persons declined due to the transfer of the Rewari tahsil excluding the Pataudi sub-tahsil from the Gurgaon district to the Mahendragarh district) as against 8,23,295 in 1971, 7,47,519 in 1967, 6,48,958 in 1962, 5,63,286 in 1957 and 5,01,593 in 1952. Due to delimitation of Lok Sabha and Vidhan Sabha constituencies in 1974, a single-member constituency of Faridabad consisting of the area falling in nine Assembly constituencies, viz. Faridabad, Meola Maharajpur, Ballabgarh, Palwal, Hasanpur, Hathin, Firozpur Jhirka, Nuh and Taoru, was formed. The seat was won by a candidate of newly created Janata Party.¹ The number of contestants for this seat and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party were :

Party/Independents	Contestants	Seat won	Valid votes polled	Percentage
Janata Party	1	1	1,84,948	44.30
Indian National Congress	1	—	58,079	13.91
Communist Party of India (M)	1	—	1,118	0.20

RAJYA SABHA (COUNCIL OF STATES)

The erstwhile State of Punjab was represented in Rajya Sabha by one resident of the Gurgaon district from 1952 to 1966. Thereafter the Haryana State was also represented in Rajya Sabha by one resident of this district from 1966 to 1968.

VIDHAN SABHA (LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY)

For the First General Elections to Punjab Vidhan Sabha in 1952, the district was divided into 8 constituencies consisting of 9 seats. Rewari was the only double-member constituency while the remaining constituencies Firozpur Jhirka, Nuh, Palwal, Hasanpur, Ballabgarh, Gurgaon and Sohna returned one member each. The congress candidates were returned from all the constituencies. The number of contestants, the seats won and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party are shown below :

Party/Independents	Contestants	Seats won	Valid votes polled	Percentage
Indian National Congress	9	9	1,64,847	49.81

Depressed Classes League	1	—	1,151	0.35
Independents	20	—	65,935	19.93
Total :	38	9	3,30,919	100

For the Second General Elections to Punjab Vidhan Sabha in 1957, although 8 constituencies were to return 9 members as before, Palwal, instead of Rewari, was made a double-member constituency while the remaining 7 constituencies of Firozpur Jhirka, Hasanpur, Nuh, Gurgaon, Pataudi, Rewari and Jatusana, were single-member constituencies. Again, the Congress candidates were returned from all these constituencies. The following were the number of contestants, the seats won and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party :—

Party/Independents	Contestants	Seats won	Valid votes polled	Percentage
Indian National Congress	9	9	2,09,204	53.28
Praja Socialist Party	1	—	3,057	0.78
Communist Party of India	1	—	5,319	1.35

Independents	14	—	1,08,306	27.60
Total :	30	9	3,92,551	100

Following the splitting up of all double-member constituencies in the country by the Election Commission, Ballabgarh constituency (reserved) was created out of the double-member constituency of Palwal for the Third General Elections to Punjab Vidhan Sabha in 1962. Thus the number of constituencies in the district rose from 8 to 9. Of these, 7 constituencies, viz. Gurgaon, Ballabgarh, Palwal, Firozpur Jhirka, Nuh, Pataudi and Rewari returned the Congress candidates while the remaining 2 constituencies of Hasanpur and Jatusana returned independents. The following were the number of contestants, the seats won and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party :—

Party/Independents	Contestants	Seats won	Valid votes polled	Percentage
Indian National Congress	9	7	1,80,345	45.37
Communist Party of India	2	—	11,666	2.94
Bharatiya Jan Sangh	5	—	46,972	11.82
Republican Party	1	—	7,023	1.77

Independents	18	2	1,49,892	37.71
Total :	36	9	3,97,455	100

Before the Fourth General Elections were held in 1967, the new State of Haryana with unicameral legislature had come into existence on November 1, 1966. Therefore, this time elections from this district were held to Haryana Vidhan Sabha instead of Punjab Vidhan Sabha. There were 13 constituencies in all. Of these, 5 constituencies, viz. Faridabad, Ballabgarh, Hathin, Pataudi and Rewari, returned the Congress candidates; 6 constituencies, viz. Palwal, Hasanpur, Nuh, Sohna, Bawal and Jatusana, returned the independent candidates; and the remaining two constituencies, viz., Gurgaon and Firozpur Jhirka, voted for the Jan Sangh and the Swatantra candidates respectively. The number of contestants, the seats won and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party are shown below :

Party/Independents	Contestants	Seats won	Valid votes polled	Percentage
Indian National Congress	13	5	1,93,203	39.21
Bharatiya Jan Sangh	9	1	72,448	14.70
Communist Party of India	2	—	4,953	1.01
Swatantra Party	2	1	19,639	3.99
Republican Party	4	—	7,380	1.50
Independents	37	6	1,95,063	39.59
Total :	67	13	4,92,686	100

Haryana Vidhan Sabha was dissolved and President's rule was enforced on November 21, 1967. The mid-term elections were held during May 1968. No change was made in the limits and number of constituencies of this district. Of the 13 constituencies, the Congress candidates were returned from 7 constituencies, viz. Faridabad, Ballabgarh, Palwal, Hasanpur, Nuh, Sohna and Gurgaon; and Vishal Haryana Party candidates from 5 constituencies, viz. Firozpur Jhirka, Pataudi, Rewari, Bawal and Jatusana; and the independent candidate from the remaining one constituency, viz. Hathin. The following were the number of contestants, the seats won and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party :—

Party/Independents	Contestants	Seats won	Valid votes polled	Percentage
Indian National Congress	13	7	1,79,483	42.20
Bharatiya Jan Sangh	8	—	29,807	7.01

Independents	21	1	43,022	10.12
Total :	60	13	4,25,297	100

Haryana Vidhan Sabha was again dissolved and Fifth General Elections were held in March 1972. No change was made in the limits and number of constituencies of this district. Of the 13 constituencies, the Congress candidates were returned from 8 constituencies, viz. Ballabgarh, Hasanpur, Sohna, Gurgaon, Pataudi, Rewari, Bawal and Jatusana; the Akhil Bharatiya Arya Sabha candidate from Palwal constituency; and the independent candidates from the remaining four constituencies, viz. Faridabad, Firozpur Jhirka, Nuh and Hathin. The following table gives the number of contestants, the seats won and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party :—

As a result of the re-organisation of the Gurgaon district on December 12, 1972, the Rewari, Bawal and Jatusana constituencies formed part of the Mahendragarh district thereby reducing the number of constituencies in the Gurgaon district to 10.

Sixth General Elections to Haryana Vidhan Sabha were held in June 1977. As a result of delimitation of constituencies in 1974, 12 constituencies, viz. Faridabad, Mevla Maharajpur, Ballabgarh, Palwal, Hasanpur, Hathin, Firozpur Jhirka, Nuh, Taoru, Sohna, Gurgaon and Pataudi, were created having a total of 8,32,334 electorates. Nine constituencies, viz. Faridabad, Mevla Maharajpur, Palwal, Hasanpur, Hathin, Nuh, Taoru, Sohna and Gurgaon returned candidates of the Janata Party while Pataudi constituency returned a candidate of the Vishal Haryana Party. Two independent candidates were returned by the Ballabgarh and Firozpur Jhirka constituencies. The following table gives the number of contestants, the seats won and the number and the percentage of valid votes polled by each party :—

VIDHAN PARISHAD (LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL)

The State of Haryana has a unicameral legislature. Before its creation in 1966, the Gurgaon district in the erstwhile Punjab State was included in the Gurgaon-cum-Rohtak-cum-Hisar-Simla (Local Authorities) constituency also known as the Punjab South Local Authorities constituency. One resident, who was elected from this constituency, represented the district from 1957 to 1964.

POLITICAL PARTIES AND ORGANISATIONS

There is no political party of significance in the district which may be regarded as purely local in character except the Vishal Haryana Party which entered the field in 1968. The major ones are units of all-India parties. Prior to the emergence of the Janata Party on the eve of the Sixth General Elections, 1977, the Indian National Congress was the most important party in the district. In the First General Elections of 1952, and the Second General Elections of 1957, the Congress won all the 9 seats in Vidhan Sabha and the only seat in Lok Sabha. In the Third General Elections of 1962, it retained 7 seats out of the total of 9 seats in Vidhan Sabha; the remaining 2 seats were captured by independent candidates. The Parliamentary seat also remained with the Congress. Before the General Elections of 1967, Haryana State had appeared on the political map of India and the number of Vidhan Sabha constituencies in the district was increased from 9 to 13. Out of these, 5 went to Congress, 1 to Jan Sangh, 1 to Swatantra and 6 to independent candidates. The Lok Sabha seat, earlier held by the Congress, was captured by an independent candidate. Haryana Vidhan Sabha was dissolved and President's rule was enforced on November 21, 1967. There was no change in the constituencies for the Mid-term Elections held during May 1968. Out of the 13 seats, the Congress won 7 seats, Vishal Haryana Party 5 and the remaining 1 was captured by an independent candidate. The Congress re-captured the Lok Sabha seat in the Fifth General Elections of March 1971 but again lost it during the Sixth General Elections to Lok Sabha held in March 1977. This time the victorious candidate belonged to the newly created Janata Party. Again, during the Vidhan Sabha Elections held in June the same year, Congress was eliminated altogether. Of the 12 Vidhan Sabha seats, 9 were captured by the Janata Party, 1 by the Vishal Haryana and 2 by the independent candidates.

From the above analysis, it is apparent that the Congress was the major all-India party in the Gurgaon district up to the Fifth General Elections. During the Sixth General Elections of 1977, the newly created Janata Party emerged to be a premier party. Of the other parties, only Jan Sangh and Vishal Haryana Party could achieve some measures of success. Zamindara Party, Socialist Party, Depressed Classes League, Praja Socialist Party, Communist Party of India (M), Communist Party of India, Republican Party and Swatantra Party participated in the General Elections but failed to make any mark.

It should be noted that independents have been steadily fighting with varying degrees of success in all the elections to Vidhan Sabha and Lok Sabha. The results of the Vidhan Sabha elections held so far reveal that 2 seats were captured by this group of candidates during 1962, 6 during 1967, 1 during 1968 and 4 during 1972. In Fourth General Elections of 1967, the Lok Sabha seat was captured by an independent candidate. The following percentage of votes obtained by the independent candidates in different elections shows the varying degrees of public support received by them from the voters. The larger number of independent candidates accounts for the fairly high percentage of votes polled by them as also for the failure of a proportionate number of independent candidates elected :

	Vidhan Sabha	Lok Sabha
First General Elections, 1952	19.93	42.13
Second General Elections, 1957	27.60
Third General Elections, 1962	37.71	42.76
Fourth General Elections, 1967	39.59	34.96
Mid-Term Elections, 1968 (Vidhan Sabha)	10.12
Fifth General Elections, 1971 (Lok Sabha)		40.84
Fifth General Elections, 1972 (Vidhan Sabha)	27.64
Sixth General Elections, 1977	36.07	41.59

The position of different political parties represented in the legislative bodies can be seen at a glance from the table given below :

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS

Prior to Independence, the district was poor in literacy and no local paper or periodical was published. After Independence, as literacy improved, a few local papers, periodicals and magazines began to be published from different places in the district. None of these is of any importance to exercise influence on the public mind. Among the local publications is included one daily newspaper (Mewat) in Hindi published from Gurgaon. Its publication is erratic. Some particulars about the local periodicals are given below:

	Language	Periodicity	Place of Publication
Bharat Darshan	Hindi	Weekly	Palwal
Bharat Puttar	Hindi	Weekly	Gurgaon
Guide to Indian Periodical Literature	English	Quarterly	Gurgaon
Ramneek	Hindi, English, Panjabi and Sanskrit	Annual	Gurgaon

The intelligentsia, however, depend upon papers and periodicals published outside the district. The educated class prefers English dailies. Most of the older people depend for their newsfare on Urdu dailies though the younger generation, not knowing Urdu, depends on Hindi dailies. These dailies and periodicals also feed their readers with news, political reviews and comments in addition to general reading matter like short stories, biographies and poems.

VOLUNTARY SOCIAL SERVICE ORGANISATIONS

Government cannot provide everything for its people; besides social service through voluntary organisations undertaking different activities of public welfare has an old tradition behind it. In more recent years such organisations have begun to receive sound financial support from the Government which is inclined to widen its area of social welfare activity. There are a number of such voluntary social service organisations in the district engaged in a variety of public welfare activities.

The voluntary social service organisations are of various kinds and about which information is available can be classified into the following categories:

(A) Organisations promoting welfare in general including recreation and sports

(B) Religious organisations the programmes of which include social welfare activities

A brief review of the more important voluntary social service organisations functioning in the district is given below but it should be pointed out that the classification given above cannot be taken too rigidly:

(A) ORGANISATIONS PROMOTING WELFARE IN GENERAL INCLUDING RECREATION AND SPORTS

District Relief Fund Committee, Gurgaon.—The committee, established in 1954, administers the relief funds collected on a voluntary basis from within the district. Such funds are collected only once a year by organising wrestling meets, poetic symposiums and other programmes of a cultural nature. The Deputy Commissioner and the General Assistant act as its Chairman and Secretary respectively. The committee utilises the relief fund in a prescribed manner which includes contributions to the State and local social organisations, District Red Cross Society, Saket Council and Chief Minister's Relief Fund. It also provides aid to the poor, destitutes and victims of the flood, famine and fire affected areas.

In keeping with its aims, the committee, since its inception, has contributed Rs. 5 lakh to the District Red Cross Society, 1.50 lakh towards Chief Minister's Relief Fund, Rs. 3,000 to the Saket Council, Rs. 3.15 lakh for various development schemes in rural areas and over Rs. 1 lakh for the general betterment of the poorer section of the society. Rs. 40,000 was given to the District Family Planning Officer during 1974-75 to promote the Family Planning Programme in the district. The following figures show income and expenditure of the committee from 1961-62 to 1976-77 :—

Year 1	Income 2	Expenditure 3
	(Rs.)	(Rs.)
1961-62	42,870	28,164
1962-63	51,760	39,702

1976-77	Do	10,435

The expenditure is kept within limits as far as possible in order to make an adequate reserve available for meeting any large-scale unforeseen calamity like flood, famine or fire.

District Council for Child Welfare, Gurgaon.—The district council, a branch of the Haryana State Council for Child Welfare, was established at Gurgaon on November 3, 1952. Its main objectives are to promote the welfare of children and educate general public in this behalf. At the annual function of the Haryana State Council for Child Welfare held in May 1973, Gurgaon won a shield for laudable work.

The council runs pre-school projects at Faridabad and Ballabgarh. These projects aim at providing integrated services to the children up to the age of 6. The strength of children in these projects on March 31, 1977 was 98 at Faridabad and 32 at Ballabgarh. The supervised home work classes are also run in 19 balwadis run by the council at Dhankot, Bhundsi, Sikanderpur, Daulatabad, Nakrolla, Kherki Daula, Sukhrali, Tikri, Shikohpur, Kasan, Sidhrawli, Ghamroj, (tahsil Gurgaon) Pachgaon, Indri, Ferozepur Namak (tahsil Nuh) Ajrona, Kheri Kalan, Tilpat and Sikri (tahsil Ballabgarh).

The Bal Bhawan (Urban Estate), Gurgaon, was inaugurated on June 2, 1973.¹ It is essentially a recreational and educational centre for children. The aim is to provide facilities which are otherwise not available to them. These include Creative Art, Library, Music (vocal and instrumental), Dance (classical Indian and folk) and Physical Education. It may help to develop their creative ability. The Bal Bhawan also houses a library.

A Bal Udyan has also been constructed in Civil Lines, Gurgaon. It was inaugurated on December 22, 1975. It houses a creche centre and a balwadi. In the evening, painting and music (vocal and instrumental) are taught to the children in the age group 5—14.

The main income of the council comes from the sale proceeds of flower tokens sold in connection with the Children's Day celebration. Seventy per cent share of child welfare fund collected by the District Education Officer also forms part of its income. Membership fee is another source. Film shows are sometime arranged to raise funds. Besides, filmstar nights were arranged in June 1971, April 1972, September 1973 and September 1975 to raise funds for the construction of Bal Bhawan at Gurgaon.

The income and expenditure of the council for 1964-65 to 1976-77 are given below :

Year 1	Income 2	Expenditure 3

Greenfields SOS Children's Village, Anangpur.—The first SOS (Save Our Souls) Children's Village of India at Greenfields, Anangpur, was founded in January 1964, in cooperation with SOS Kinderdorf International, Austria, and Hermann Gmeiner Founds Deutschland, Germany. The idea was inspired by Dr. Hermann Gmeiner, the pioneer who had started children's village movement in Austria in 1949. On his visit to India, Dr. Gmeiner was persuaded by the Prime Minister of India to establish a Children's Village in India. The construction of the village was started in March 1967 and the first group of five houses was ready by July 1968, when the first children moved to the village. It was, however, formally dedicated to the service of the needy children in 1970.

The village is situated in Greenfields, 4 kilometres from Delhi-Haryana border and 25 kilometres from central Delhi towards its south. It has a group of charming cottages, in four clusters of five houses each, a kindergarten, a community house, staff houses, a dispensary, a general merchandise shop and several small gardens.

In March 1977, there were 185 children in the village. Their ages ranged from 2 months to 16 years. The tiny tots used to go to the kindergarten and older children to the schools in the neighbourhood. Some children had taken admission in the schools in Delhi and 9 of them were enjoying scholarships.

The Children's Village adopts children without any consideration of religion or caste. The children are referred by the Child Welfare Board at the observation of (i) Home for Children, New Delhi, (ii) Delhi Maternity Hospital, (iii) After Care Home for Girls, (iv) Officer Commanding 232 FD SKSP Coy., (v) Kishore Dal, Patna, (vi) Faridabad Welfare Association, (vii) Social Workers, (viii) Officers in the Social Welfare Department of different States and (ix) the Welfare Officer, DCM Chemicals, Delhi.

Orphan infants receive the first priority in admissions, then the children who have lost their mothers and whose fathers are incapable of looking after them and last on the list are children whose fathers are dead and mothers incapacitated or are suffering from communicable disease which makes it necessary for children to live away from their homes.

Most children do not have any name when they are admitted. They are given names common in their religion, if their religion is known. Their dates of births are fixed in consultation with a doctor and these are entered in official records. All the members of the village meet in the Community House for prayers.

Children of the same religion live together with a mother belonging to the same religion. There are different homes for Hindus, Muslims and Buddhists and the children are brought up in their own faith.

Nine children and a mother live in each house, which has a living room, three bed rooms, a bathroom and a kitchen. The houses are kept clean, neat and tidy and equipped with gas, sanitary fittings, cupboards and furniture. There is a small kitchen-garden at the back of each house.

The mother does everything that a real mother is expected to do. Each child is provided with a natural environment essential for his/her growth. Mothers are either educated widows or unmarried educated women. They are given intensive training in child-care, nutrition, health, hygiene and even nursing at institutions like School of Social Work, Lady Irwin College, Red Cross Society and St. Stephen's Hospital. To meet the household expenditure, each mother gets allowance at the rate of Rs. 75 per mensem for herself and Rs. 80 per mensem for each child.

Funds for running the village come from life members (Rs. 250 per annum) and members (Rs. 25 per annum) besides the friends and philanthropists who regularly contribute to the project. The main source of maintaining the day-to-day expenses of the Children's Village is the contributions received from the sponsors of the children from all over the world. The contribution is Rs. 80 per mensem per sponser. In March 1977, there were 1,000 such sponsors.
