SIGNS OF ABNORMALITIES DETECTED IN FOETUS

HC raps RML doc panel after it asks woman to continue 27-wk pregnancy

Sohini Ghosh
New Delhi, May 6

THE DELHI High Court Wednesday rapped the Ram Manohar Lohia (RML) Hospital in New Delhi after doctors in its medical board refused to terminate the medical termination of pregnancy, failed to give a clear opinion on whether it was "feasible" to continue the woman's 27-week pregnancy, given the abnormalities that have been detected in the foetus.

Justice Purushaindra Kaurav, in his order to direct AIIMS, New Delhi, constitute the 24-week-old woman and medically supervise the health of the fetus and her pregnancy and its termination.

The matter was mentioned by Justice Kaurav on May 1 and the medical termination of her second pregnancy, submitting that continuing the pregnancy carries a risk of sudden death of the foetus in the womb, as the foetus has been detected with abnormalities, endangering her physical and mental health.

On May 4, when the plea came up for hearing before Justice Purushaindra Kaurav, Centre told the court that a medical board had been formed to look into the matter. The court then directed All Bihari Vajpayee Institute of Medical Sciences and RML Hospital to examine the woman "to clearly outline regarding feasibility or termination of pregnancy and the necessary consequences".

The board's report, submitted to the court on Wednesday, however, failed to give a clear opinion on the feasibility and consequences of the termination. It concluded: "The patient has thus been advised to continue expectant management according to standard guidelines. Patient advised to continue the pregnancy."

Justice Kaurav, pulling up the board, recorded, "There seems to be complete disregard to statutory mandate under the MTP Act and guidelines thereunder by the team of doctors... The fourth order required the medical board to opine regarding feasibility of termination of pregnancy and the necessary consequences. It was specifically directed that the board bear in mind all aspects as has been noted in the petition. The petitioner has categorically stated that the termination of the pregnancy is necessitated as there exists several fatal abnormalities."

The board comprised Dr Pravati Salhia and Dr Jaya Chandra from RML's Department of Obstetrics, Dr Barun Jhawar from Department of Radiodiagnosis and Imaging, Dr Bhawna from the Department of Neonatology and Dr Mina Chandra from the Department of Psychiatry.

Noting the risk of death of the foetus as was submitted by the petitioner, Justice Kaurav noted, "There is no consideration has been given by the medical board to these aspects. The court thus deprecates the act of the doctors who examined the petitioner in AIIMS and RML Hospital... In the future it is warned that the same directives must be complied with in letter and spirt."

Justice Kaurav orally remarked that the Supreme Court has "very clearly said that reproductive autonomy has to be put on a higher pedestal".

Addressing the Centre's counsel, Justice Kaurav said orally, "Either they (the medical board) have to say yes (to termination) or they disagree (with private doctors' opinion suggesting termination)... We have to say something regarding your doctors' conduct and we have to refer the matter to Delhi Medical Council because they have abdicated from their statutory responsibilities".

Initially being treated in a private hospital, mid-March, around the 21st week of pregnancy, a scan had discontented severely restricted foetal growth. By early April, the abnormality was further confirmed, and by April-end, the woman made an emergency visit to RML Hospital, where she was told that the placenta had severely restricted blood flow to the foetus. A private foetal medicine specialist then confirmed that the survival of the foetus was gravely uncertain.

WHAT THE LAW SAYS

MEDICAL TERMINATION of Pregnancy (MTP) Act allows termination of pregnancy up to 24 weeks subject to opinion of 2 registered medical practitioners that continuance of the pregnancy would involve a life risk for the mother or cause grave injury to her physical or mental health.

THE ACT provides that the length of pregnancy won't apply in cases of substantial foetal abnormalities diagnosed by a Medical Board.

SEVERAL DEADLINES HAVE BEEN MISSED

Bhairon Marg Underpass 5 likely to open in Feb next year

Express News Service
New Delhi, May 6

AFTER SEVERAL missed deadlines and delays, the last leg of the Dr Gati Maidan interchange, Transit Corridor — Bhairon Marg Underpass 5 — which passes beneath an active railway line is likely to be completed by February next year.

Public Works Department (PWD) minister Parvesh Sahib Singh said that the work on the stretch has been resumed and it is going in full swing. "Work has gathered pace... We have also got an in-principle NOC from the Indian Railways. Trains are likely to be diverted for a few days so that the work is completed on time," he said.

The 110-metre-long Underpass 5 was supposed to be completed and inaugurated along with the Project Maidan tunnel and other underpasses on this stretch as part of the Pragati Maidan Integrated Transit Corridor redevelopment project. However, owing to an active railway line over the stretch and fluctuations in the Yamuna water level, it was delayed.

In 2023, the work was halted after pressure cookers, packed beneath the active railway line using a "box-pushing" method, sank due to flooding caused by the Yamuna. Following this, the PWD proposed a "cut and cover" method, which involves cutting the railway track and pulling the track on cranes and bundling it up. This process required a period of up to 40 days, during which the railway line had to remain shut. The Indian Railways refused to grant permission for the same.

Later, the PWD decided to switch to the "box-in-box" technology.

Once completed, the stretch will bring relief to commuters travelling between Bhairon Marg, Central Delhi and ISBT Kashmere Gate, Ring Road and Sarai Kale Khan. After completion of the Project Maidan tunnel and ITO corridor, improve East-Central connectivity and ensure smoother traffic flow during major national and international events hosted at the ITPO complex.

Currently, traffic is being managed with temporary diversions and barricading, leading to severe congestion near Ring Road, Bhairon Marg and Sarai Kale Khan, said officials.

Now, automated e-challan system across IGI Airport road network

Express News Service
New Delhi, May 6

TO STRENGTHEN traffic discipline and improve road safety at the Indira Gandhi International Airport, the Delhi Metropolitan Area Transport Limited (DIAL-GMR), in collaboration with the Delhi Traffic Police, has rolled out an automated e-challan enforcement system across the airport road network.

Officials said 14 high-definition Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) cameras have been installed at key stretches, with another 36 set to be integrated soon. The system will automatically detect traffic violations such as speeding, illegal parking, wrong-side driving, triple riding, riding without a helmet, skipping red-light violations and red-light jumping.

Officials said once a violation is recorded, the data is routed through NIC systems and verified by traffic police personnel before e-challans are issued.

The cameras have been deployed at high-traffic points like Central Spine Road, Cargo Terminal area, Rangpuri, Centaur Hotel junction, Aerocity, M&G junction and Terminal 1 exit road.

"This initiative is a significant step towards technology-driven enforcement in Delhi. With AI/ML-based monitoring, we aim to improve compliance, ensure uniform enforcement, and enhance road safety across the IGI Airport road network," said Shweta Saxena, DCP Traffic, New Delhi.

"The system also ensures greater transparency and efficiency in issuing e-challans," he added.

MAN KILLED IN UTTAM NAGAR ON HOLI

'Of 20 named in chargesheet, 10 assaulted youth, rest provoked'

Alok Singh
New Delhi, May 6

OUT OF the 20 people allegedly involved in the murder of 26-year-old Tarun Dutalia in Uttam Nagar on Holi this March, "at least ten directly assaulted him with rods, sticks and cement blocks, while the others provoked them during the fight", according to the Delhi Police probe. The Indian Express has learnt.

According to the police, the murder was not premeditated but a result of a sudden outburst of anger triggered after an 11-year-old relative of Tarun threw a water balloon from the second floor of her house that hit a woman. An argument broke out between the two families. During the exchange, the woman allegedly used derogatory and caste-related language on Tarun's family and the argument turned into a scuffle. Many relatives of the accused joined in and attacked Tarun's family, the probe suggested, police said.

On Sunday, the Delhi Police filed a 550-page chargesheet before a city court in connection with the murder on March 4, naming 20 accused, including two minors. Police said two of them are still absconding.

The police have built the case heavily relying upon electronic statements of eyewitnesses, who were named as key prosecution witnesses, sources said. To review the case, the police have placed evidence related to the post-mortem examination report, Call Detail Records, and Internet Protocol Detail Records, sources confirmed. Forensic reports, which are still awaited, may be part of the supplementary chargesheet in the case, they said.

During the scuffle, the accused allegedly tried to enter Tarun's house, police said. Around 30 minutes later, when Tarun was returning home, the accused surrounded him, and at least 10 of them assaulted him, leaving him critically injured, police said.

While the accused fled the spot after the attack, Tarun was taken to a hospital where he succumbed to his injuries the next day, police said.

Police have arrested 13 people and apprehended two juveniles. Of the 20 accused named in the chargesheet, 17 are related to each other, while three are family friends, police also said. They added that the matter is still under investigation and efforts were on to trace the rest of the accused at-large.

Subway to link Delhi Airport terminals 2 & 3

Express News Service
New Delhi, May 6

FOR EASIER, faster, and more comfortable transfer between Terminal 2 and Terminal 3, a new pedestrian subway is being built at Delhi's Indira Gandhi International (IGI) Airport.

The subway is expected to be ready by 2028.

Currently, passengers have to use one of the Delhi Metro stations between T3 and either walk or take a shuttle provided by the airport, or use other modes of transport.

With the subway, there will be direct connectivity between the two terminals that will help passengers save time. It is expected to be around 70-80 metres long, considerably shorter than the current 850 metre commuting route by bus.

The project, which the proponents said could have been ready earlier, was cleared in May 2023 when the Delhi Metro Rail Corporation (DMRC) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Delhi International Airport Limited (DIAL) for the construction, operation and maintenance of the subway. Following the MoU, DMRC floated a tender.

Officials briefed on the matter told The Indian Express that the cost of construction, including the utility work, is likely to be borne by DIAL. The Delhi Metro will bear system operation and maintenance costs of the subway, including electrical and mechanical aspects, lift and escalator, Automatic Fare Collection (AFC) systems, CCTV surveillance, security and PA systems.

The subway will be constructed using the "box-pushing" method, said officials. "In this method, without excavation or huge earth digging is not required. It is much faster than the conventional 'cut and cover' technology used generally for subway construction," said officials.

"The new pedestrian subway will enable direct access to T3 from the Metro station, ensuring seamless connectivity and greater convenience for commuters," a DIAL spokesperson said.

The average daily footfall at T2 is 350,000-400,000 while it is 119-120 lakh at T3, as per airport officials.

The pedestrian subway is likely to open for commuters by the end of this year. GOOGLE MAPS
