2.	Sh. Rahul Garg	Civil Judge (Senior Division), Rupnagar
3.	Ms. Khyati Goyal	Civil Judge (Junior Division), Rupnagar

2. In light of the directions passed in the above said judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court, the above said selected Courts shall fix the cases pending at pre-trial stage or evidence stage and where the accused are charge-sheeted/charge with offence (s) with a maximum sentence of 07 years imprisonment. The above said courts would exclude cases mentioned in Section 265-A of Cr.P.C., namely, offences notified by the Central Government vide Notification dated 11.07.2006 or offences committed against women or child/children less than 14 years and prepare the list of same.

3. The above said Courts shall identify the cases and post the same on a working Saturday or any other day, suitable to the Court, with notice to the Public Prosecutor/Complainant and the accused. The said notice would indicate that the Court proposes to consider disposing of those cases under Chapter XXIA of Cr.P.C., plea bargaining, Probation of Offenders Act, 1958 or compounding i.e. 320 Cr.P.C. The notice will also indicate that the accused complainant would be entitled to avail legal aid and details of the District Legal Services Authority would be made available in the said notice. It would also be made clear that the accused and the complainant have to remain present with their respective Advocates.

4. The said Courts shall seek the criminal antecedents of the accused from the Public Prosecutor, so that the cases of first time offenders only could be taken up for said purpose.

5. On the date fixed, the Courts can inform the accused of the provisions of Plea bargaining. The Court can also persuade the parties to compound the offence (if the offences are compoundable). The Court can also inform the accused of the benefit of Probation of Offenders Act, 1958. The services of Panel Lawyer from District Legal Services Authority would also be made available to the accused/Complainant.

6. The Court may give time to the accused/complainant to think over the matter and give another date. The said Courts shall make proper compliance of orders dated 14.09.2022 passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court of India.

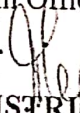

7. The above selected Courts shall submit their work done Statement relating to the matter under reference, on fortnightly basis, to this office, for further transmission to the Hon'ble High Court for monitoring purpose. All concerned be informed accordingly.
