Message from the Vice Principal's Desk

Dear Readers,

It is with great joy that I share the spirit and journey of our primary wing through this newsletter—an honest reflection of the vibrance, values, and voices that echo in our classrooms every day.

This edition holds within it the laughter of learning, the spark of curiosity, and the strength of collective effort. Whether it was planting saplings for a greener tomorrow, preparing for cultural events, or diving into books during our reading weeks, our children have amazed us with their energy, empathy, and enthusiasm.

We, as a school, remain deeply committed to nurturing not only academic excellence but also emotional resilience and ethical values. Our vision is to create an environment where every child feels safe to explore, experiment, and express—where they grow not only in knowledge but in kindness and confidence too.

I take this opportunity to thank all our dedicated teachers, supportive parents, and of course, our little stars who give meaning to every effort we put in.

Let us continue to dream big and fly higher—together.

Warm regards,

Vice Principal
