Kendriya Vidyalaya Nuh

Kendriya Vidyalaya Nuh is a newly established institution that commenced its functioning in the academic session 2026–27. In its initial phase, the school has been operating on a temporary basis from the premises of the Mewat Model School located in the village of Chilawali Jaisinghpur. This arrangement has been made to ensure that academic activities begin without delay while providing students access to quality education under the Kendriya Vidyalaya Sangathan.

The establishment of KV Nuh marks a significant step towards enhancing educational opportunities in the region, especially in the Mewat area. The school aims to provide a strong academic foundation along with co-curricular development in line with KVS standards.

In the future, a permanent school building will be constructed in the village of Salaheri, near the Women's College Salaheri. This new campus will be equipped with modern infrastructure, better facilities, and an enriched learning environment to cater to the growing needs of students. Until then, the school will continue to function from its temporary location, striving to maintain high standards of education and discipline.
